PARENT-TEACHER PROGRAM

Barbourville is blessed with a real working Parent-Teacher Association and they have mapped out a program which they hope will net them money enough to participate in the benefits of the Smith-Hughes Bill, their proportion of which will probably be $150.00.

With this end in view the ladies expect to put on a tag day shortly. It is certain that our citizens will give liberally to the workers. The money is to be devoted to Domestic Science equipment for the High School. Those who wish to know more of the matter may get in touch with Mrs. A. W. Hopper.

MRS. BETSY LANE SHEPHERD

Makes Good The Edison Tone Test

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the "tone-test" recital at Union College Chapel Wednesday night were given a real treat not only from the fact that they heard the beautiful voice of Mrs. Betsy Lane Shepherd in some of the more simple songs we all love but because there was a new element introduced into the recital, namely, a tone test of the voice of Mrs. Shepherd with her voice as given forth by the records of the Edison Phonograph Co. for which she sings.

The quality of sound from first one and then the other was startling and it seemed that a "familiar spirit" was taking up the refrain where Mrs. Shepherd left off. The chief point of difference lay in the fact that the voice from the machine was not on a level with the lips of the singer. In the rendition of "In the Gloaming" the house was in darkness and when the lights were again switched on, the artist had disappeared and the voice was the voice of the machine, tho it might well have been that of Mrs. Shepherd herself.

Assisting Mrs. Shepherd was Mr. Adrien Froche, violinist, whose rendition of the various technical numbers was in perfect harmony with the notes that issued from the machine. Thus two tests were made and the large audience enjoyed not only the thrill of real music, but was also given a demonstration that what is sometimes called "canned music" is really the "familiar spirit" of the artist who has sung or played into the studio sound box.

The applause was a tribute to artists and machine alike and Barbourville is greatly indebted to Mr. Collier Franklin for a unique evening. It was of course an advertising method, but it was a method of advertising lifted into the plane of art and we expect that the sale of Edison machines will receive a stimulus therefrom such as the promoter deserves. The public likes enterprise and especially when it is of such a high class nature.

Collier L. Franklin believes in advertising and he will surely make good. Drop into his store and listen to the machine which gives the best each artist has to give.

We are glad to have Miss Mayhew with us again this year.

The classes are very busy perfecting their organizations and are very enthusiastic over the preparations for the School Fair.

RICHARD P. ERNST

The candidacy of Richard P. Ernst, Republican nominee for United States Senator, should have the support of all men who can recognize a broad gauge character.

Mr. Ernst is a Kentuckian by birth, a graduate of Centre College where he was valedictorian of his class.

He is a business man and believes in the development of sound business principles at home and throughout the nation.

He gives liberally of his time and means to religion and education.

He is in favor of a National Department of education and, if elected, will know what it means to Kentucky.

Mr. Ernst has a peculiar interest in education for the mountain section of Kentucky. He is a firm believer in equal educational advantages for the child from the rural districts with those of the city child.

The citizens of his home town are for him.

His son and his son-in-law were both in active service in France.

He believes in the development of agriculture, recognizing that upon this rests real national prosperity.

He believes that the agricultural, mining and business interests of Kentucky should be assisted all possible for the general well-being of every citizen in the State.

In short, Richard P. Ernst is the kind of man of whom Kentucky will be proud as its representative in the Senate of the United States.

And we thoroughly believe he will go there.

Kentucky Republicans are getting ready for their big pilgrimage to Marion.

The date has been set—September 20th is the day on which Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President, will welcome to his Marion home a host of friends from this State, and address them from his front porch.

The big special train will leave Louisville Sunday night, September 19th, at 10:30 o'clock, and will arrive in Marion Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Full details of train schedules, tickets, etc., will be obtainable at State Headquarters in Louisville.

TRAIN SMASH

Traffic was considerably delayed Tuesday when a train loaded with coal smashed into the rear end of another coal train Tuesday morning about 6 o'clock. The engine of the running train was damaged and two or three cars attached to the other train were smashed up badly and their contents scattered over the track. The wrecker came on the scene and cleared up the debris as quickly as possible.

THERE'S A REASON

For the law that requires banks throughout the United States to print at stated intervals a full and complete and accurate statement of the Bank's resources and liabilities. The reason is not that the officials of the State or the Nation shall be thus given an insight into the financial conditions of the bank, for the Government Bank Officials have made their investigations before the statement was prepared. They have gone into the bank's affairs with the most minute care, examined all the notes and securities due the bank and have carefully scrutinized the bank's assets, and have been convinced that the affairs of the bank are in first class condition, else the statement would not be permitted to be prepared.

THE BANK'S STATEMENT

Is given to the public so that the public may see for itself just the condition of the institution. The amount of deposits, the amount of money borrowed by the bank on time loans, the amount deposited by savings depositors, all are shown. Also all the bank's resources are shown, so that any man may read the statement and know just the condition of the bank.

OUR STATEMENT APPEARS IN THIS ISSUE
Read it and then come in and let us talk investment with you. We recommend U. S. Treasury Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds. They are the safest investments we know of and pay fair interest.

COSTELLO DRUG CO. BOUGHT BY B. E. PARKER & SONS

Last Saturday the Costello Drug Store was sold to B. E. Parker & Sons and they immediately took charge. We are assured the business will be run in the same high class manner which has distinguished it in the past. Mr. T. E. Wilson, who has been Mrs. Costello's right hand man for a number of years, will stay with the new firm and not only give them the benefit of his practical knowledge of the business but will have charge of the prescription end of the business.

Clarence Parker, who served the public so successfully at the Stanfill Store, and Herman Parker, formerly with the Cut-Rate-Drug Store, will run the store which will be known as the Grant Drug Store, so named in honor of their mother.

We wish the new firm every prosperity and success.

THE MICROBE OF LOVE

Friday, September 10th, one of the most pleasing plays ever staged in Barbourville was presented in the High School auditorium under the auspices of the Civic League. Those who missed it missed a treat. Miss Birdie Hopson was in charge of the presentation and under her able direction only five days were taken to prepare the production.

The play proved that Barbourville is blessed with much histrionic talent and while space forbids an extended write-up, it is safe to say that all did splendidly. The leading characters were Mrs. George F. Tinsley, who made a splendid president of the Spinners' Club, and Mrs. Read P. Black was a radiant Madame Hymen-Cupid for which her dainty personality was eminently fitted. Mr. Guy L. Dickinson developed a sense of song and steps which has lifted him into the ranks of song and terpsichorean artists startling his closest friends, while Mrs. Dickinson as the wife of the unfortunate Mr. Henpeck—G. M. Richards—showed a calm mastery over one of the most dejected individuals we have ever seen in Barbourville. These two were the comic element in the play and they were all that and then some.

The ladies of the Spinners' Club were all fine—some were not even recognized by their friends—and the chorals, sung by a bevy of sweet girls of the younger set, gave a real musical treat.

Dan Cupid, as represented by Master Tom Kennedy, was as composed a little god as ever appeared in negligence.

Miss Daisy Robison added to the occasion with several vocal selections which were very sweetly rendered.

Mrs. W. S. Hudson presided most efficiently at the piano.

The Civic League wishes heartily to thank those who so cheerfully gave of their time and service to make the play the success it really was.

GOODIN

The death of James Goodin occurred at his home on Fighting Creek, about two and one half miles from the city, Thursday, September 9th.

Deceased was born December 6th, 1835 and was married more than sixty years ago to Miss Ann Higgins who survives him.

Uncle Jim, as he was known to all was one of Knox County's oldest and most respected citizens. He was upright and square in his dealings and played his part in the development of this section.

Funeral services were held Friday September 10th, Rev. S. F. Kelley, of Barbourville, officiating. Interment was in the City Cemetery in the presence of many friends.

TUESDAY CLUB

A very pleasant called meeting of the Tuesday Club was held at the home of Mrs. M. G. Richards with the new president, Mrs. Guy Dickinson, presiding. Matters of business were attended to and plans for the year's work were further perfected. The Club will continue to study "Present Day History" from which much pleasure and profit have been derived during the past two years.
